CORROSION RESISTANT ALLOYS ANNOUNCES NEW API LICENSE

HOUSTON (Aug. 20, 2018) – Corrosion Resistant Alloys LP, a manufacturer of high-grade corrosion resistant alloy tubes, has announced its American Petroleum Institute (API) 5CRA Monogram License.

The monogram provides verification that Corrosion Resistant Alloys quality system meets the requirements of API Q1 and that the company is capable of manufacturing products in accordance with API 5CRA/ISO 13680. Corrosion Resistant Alloys is one of only two U.S. and 12 global manufacturers that possess the license. The products that the company is licensed to monogram include UNS S31260, S32750, S32760, S39274, N08028, N08535, N08825, N06255, N06985, and N10276 cold hardened corrosion resistant alloy casing, tubing and coupling stock.

Paul Maxwell, vice president of technical services, Corrosion Resistant Alloys, said, “As a small manufacturer in an industry niche, the API monogram assures customers that we have the capabilities and quality systems necessary to meet their requirements. We have a history of supplying high quality specialty pipe to major equipment manufacturers and operators. This certification will add another level of assurance to the quality of our products.”
